THE EVIL BEAST.
Homes and Families Wrecked by the Liquor Traffic.

How Shall the Evil Beast Be Destroyed?

In Tennessee, last Sunday morning, the liquor traffic was the subject of a public demonstration. It was a scene of such a nature as never again to be forgotten. A monster crowd of African tribes or Hindoo people, with their faces painted in various colors, and with their bodies adorned with beads and feathers, were seen in the streets. They were all dressed in the most grotesque and disgusting manner. They were all armed with clubs and knives, and they were all shouting and singing in a most barbaric manner.
